

Installing Android and iOS Platforms: Cordova Guides

Preparing your Computer for Deploying on Native Platforms

Once your Ionic project is ready, you need to prepare your computer for developing and deploying the application to mobile devices. The development and deployment instructions depends on the specific platform (Android or iOS).

Below, we give you the Cordova's official guides to prepare your computer for both the Android and iOS platform deployment. Please follow along the instructions given in these guides to set up your computer.

Note: For iOS development and deployment you need a Mac running OS X.
