

We hope that your primary incentive for completion of the capstone project is solidifying what you have learned and adding to your experiences throughout the specialization. But, we are happy to be able to offer an additional reward for a small number of learners who complete the specialization.

A small, select group of top learners who complete the Specialization will be offered practice interviews with Google recruiters. Invitation to a practice interview does not guarantee an actual interview or employment.

Identifying "Top Learners" will be based on, but not limited to:

- Performance on assessments (both quantitative and Peer-Review) throughout the specialization with emphasis on the capstone project.
- Involvement in the online specialization community (e.g., forum involvement).

We can only offer the reward to a limited number of learners, but we want to both thank, and applaud, all of you who complete the capstone!
